Educational Workshop and Reception

Sunday, April 19, 2015 12-2 PM

Remember the joke about lesbians and the U-haul, the one that goes something like, What does a lesbian bring on a second date, and the knowing answer, referencing the emotional intensity of lesbian relationships, is a U-Haul. Two dates and it's a move-in. Everyone laughs. Everyone recognizes the psychology.

While it can sting a bit, the U-Haul joke is also sweet. We're close. We know how to bond, we're not afraid of intimacy—this is one of the things lesbians have to offer the world, this ability to bond in a way that is mesmerizing. From a psychological perspective, and from the lived experience of this super-closeness, we know that the U-

Haul metaphor has a terrible dark side. Sometimes it is something far from wonderful when it illustrates the problem of Lesbian Love Addiction. The Urge to Merge: How to Understand and Heal Lesbian Love Addiction makes visible the elements of love addiction that millions of lesbians suffer from. It shows why love addiction has made many lesbians incredibly unhappy.

The Urge to Merge offers ways to heal love addiction. First it demonstrates to attendees why lesbians merge: how childhood development, childhood trauma and attachment styles impact addictive tendencies in lesbian relationships, how the female brain works and why the relationship with the mother uniquely affects the lesbian's sense of self. It then uses some traditional techniques like motivational interviewing, 12-step tools, family of origin work and depth psychology. Finally, this presentation will lead attendees through lesbian-affirmative techniques that will help clinicians recognize and guide their lesbian clients toward recovery from love addiction. The goal is to help them learn healthy dating -- and eventually, the ability to sustain healthy relationships. This is precisely the thing all love-addicted lesbians crave, but often struggle for decades to achieve without help.
